You Have A Right to Expect the Best

From Kunderd's you naturally expect LEADERSHIP. That would be expected of any business which had forged to a foremost position in the realm of floriculture. Paragraphs could be written on what is required to attain this leadership, but space permits only a brief statement of what it has meant in our business.

Today, Kunderd Gladioli are grown and enjoyed in every civilized country on the globe, and that is why we say "The Sun Never Sets on Kunderd Gladioli". This means Kunderd customers are living in many parts of the earth.

What is this leadership—simply a giant business structure? By no means. On the contrary, ours is a comparatively small institution which has had as its motive the production of better and more beautiful gladioli. We need present no greater proof of this fact than to point out the startling statement that Kunderd Gladioli have won more times, in more shows, under more judges, than all other gladioli in the world combined. This is a record of undisputed leadership.

The past season at the American Gladiolus Society National Show at Pittsburgh, Kunderd exhibits won the three most important prizes. The President's Cup, The Society's Cup, and The Challenge Trophy, and all other of the principal awards. This has always been our record when the season made it possible to exhibit at these shows. You need Kunderd quality to win with your exhibits also. You can always be proud when you can show your friends the best, and now you have the chance of a lifetime to buy Kunderd Bulbs direct and at unheard of low prices. It is from this same stock that we offer the bulbs priced in this catalog.

It must be added here that a major part of the winnings at gladiolus shows throughout America have been won by customers exhibiting Kunderd Gladioli grown and cultivated by themselves in various sections. Can there be any greater proof of leadership than that revealed by the success of customers? We think not, and that is why we bend every effort to produce the world's most outstanding Gladioli. There is a vast difference between just growing gladioli and growing gladioli of the highest quality. The only two types of gladioli ever originated in America, the Ruffled and Laciniated types, were originated by Kunderd, and all over the world originators have produced their Ruffled and Laciniated varieties from these.

When you buy from a concern which enjoys leadership in its field, you have a right to expect the BEST, and from Kunderd you get the BEST—this year at prices never before approached. We present to you our 1933 catalog with absolute confidence that it represents the greatest gladiolus values in America today. We do not mean to imply that gladiolus bulbs cannot be purchased at prices lower than are quoted in this catalog* but we firmly maintain that a quality equal to Kunderd's cannot be purchased elsewhere at prices quoted herein. All bulbs offered in this catalog were grown the past season on land which had never grown bulbs before. Read what others say about Kunderd Gladioli.

This is Naturally the Time to Buy

Prices are extremely low and will not be so low again for years to come. Business conditions have forced prices below the actual value of the bulbs listed in this catalog. Merchants in all sense of fairness and good business are entitled to profit on the merchandise they sell. However, we have priced our bulbs so low that there is little opportunity for profit. By reducing our prices we feel our customers and friends will see the logic in our efforts to maintain our business, in order to keep our organization intact, to grant employment to all our people, and continue in our efforts to produce newer and finer gladioli in the future for them. We say, "NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY," because you cannot afford to sacrifice the healthful enjoyment and pleasure of a gladiolus garden at these extremely low prices. The investment is so slight and the returns so great that we are sure you will not overlook your gladiolus purchases this year, when prices are so low.

Kunderd's New Gladioli

Here is my 1933 Catalog in an entirely different style dress, and we hope you will enthusiastically enjoy what proves to be an innovation this year. As you unfold the pages you will see almost one hundred varieties in natural color spread out before you. For the first time, as far as we are able to learn, the actual varieties making up special collections are shown in colors. This should prove of great interest and aid to my customers who like good balance of types and colors. In spite of the new low prices I want to assure my patrons that I have never harvested so large and fine a stock of bulbs as I did last fall. They are almost perfect and are entirely FREE FROM GLADIOLUS THRIPS. I can assure you that you will receive the finest and most perfect bulbs it is possible to obtain. All orders will be filled and forwarded as soon after February first as weather conditions will permit. Orders will be filled as nearly as possible in the order in which they are received, and early orders are advisable so that you may be sure of getting just the varieties and collections you want. The following discounts will be allowed on early orders:

My Bargain Counter

Twenty years of careful, painstaking effort has made it possible for me to offer what is without doubt the finest mixture in existence today from the standpoint of individual varieties and balance of color. A good gladiolus mixture can be compared with a beautiful string of pearls which can be easily spoiled by a wrong selection of any unit.

The development of my mixtures, over all these years, has been a proud duty and one I will never tire of. Nothing gives me greater satisfaction than the vast panorama presented by these mixtures in bloom. The effect is very, very beautiful. When you consider that I have the largest trial grounds in the world, where thousands of seedlings are grown separately each year, you will understand how it is that these mixtures are so outstanding. Our source of supply seems unlimited and we do not lack for colors or types.

I desire to make it clear to all my customers that the varieties in these mixtures are grown as carefully as the named varieties. They are in every way equal—in color, in beauty and in productivity. Mixtures do not require labelling and details, leaving the bearing quality hence, they can be offered much cheaper.

I am well aware that you will experience a great deal of satisfaction in growing these mixtures. The thrill of finding new flowers of rare beauty each day, and the tremendous savings effected, are things not to be overlooked as you read the descriptions of the mixtures. The possibilities for beautiful floral effects with gladioli in mixtures are unlimited.

"Kunderd" Bulbs Are Free From Thrips" PAUL ULMAN State Inspector

"All over the United States and Canada hybridizers have been at work and many beautiful flowers have resulted. But only one man has succeeded in producing a new type, bearing characteristics entirely new. This is the new Ruffled Gladiolus produced by A. E. Kunderd, of Goshen, Ind., and named by him

"Kunderd" type. The petals of this flower are ruffled and fluted like the petals of the newer sweet peas." S. F. MORTON.

NOTE: Laciniated, Upright and Baby Gladiolus have since also been added by Mr. A. E. Kunderd.

"What you are doing is probably the most important work on the gladiolus ever undertaken. I consider it much ahead of anything Mr. Kunderd has done." E. H. CUSHMAN.

"Ruffled" is in bloom. Grand does not begin to express it. It is the ransprell of all gladioli." LUTHER S. BURGESS.

"You have erected a monument to your memory that will live as long as history, and far outshine the great monumental or memorial Woolworth building in New York City." C. S. BURGESS.

The ruffled gladiolus, like the ruffled sweet pea, has a refined appearance which the common gladiolus does not possess.

"I have often heard and read of Kunderd's Gladioli, but I did not expect to see as extensive a place as you have. You certainly are deserving of all the credit you have received, and more." E. T. BARNES.

"They are the wonder of the whole neighborhood." S. E. STENCER.

"They are immensely more beautiful than the plain gladiolus, and I have no doubt that they will be popular." MATTHEW CRAWFORD.

"Your gladioli have no equal. They certainly are in a class by themselves." GRACE RE SHORE.
